NaTHNaC launches the Yellow Fever Zone

Clinical and administrative resources for healthcare professionals and other staff running or managing a YFVC

NaTHNaC (the National Travel Health Network and Centre) was set up in 2002 with the broad aim of Protecting the Health of British Travellers. We seek to improve the quality of travel health advice given by GP practices, travel clinics, pharmacies and other healthcare providers, and provide up-to-date and reliable information for the traveller, travel industry and national government.

The new and improved Yellow Fever Vaccination Centre (YFVC) website- the Yellow Fever Zone contains clinical and administrative resources for healthcare professionals and other staff running or managing a YFVC. This site will allow easy access for all your YFVC needs.

New features

- Overall account management by each YFVC administrative lead.
- Online applications to become a YFVC.
- Access to the NaTHNaC Training Portal with yellow fever (YF) classroom training and e-learning. (Other courses will be available soon)
