New traveller resources

UK Health Security Agency and NaTHNaC launch new resources for UK travellers

The UK Health Security Agency and NaTHNaC are pleased to announce the launch of specific resources for UK travellers. These include advice for those visiting friends and relatives abroad and information on how travellers can reduce their risk of mosquito spread infections. They combine animations, audio, leaflets and posters highlighting risks such as food and water borne illnesses and mosquito spread infections, including malaria. Prevention advice and further information sources are included.

Initially information is available in English, but audio, braille, British Sign Language, Easy Read, large print and translated versions are in progress and will be published soon.
